

Founded in 1983, the Rosen Institute protects and sustains the quality and standards of the Rosen Method® worldwide.

The Rosen Institute is a vibrant and growing international organization with a diverse volunteer Board of Directors. The Board work to represent and support all regions where the Rosen Method® is practiced. Day-to-day operations are handled by a dedicated volunteer 'Executive Team' of four Board members that meet at least once a week. The Executive Team are supported by a part-time paid Administrator.

Safekeeping Rosen Method

The Rosen Institute (RI) maintains all of the Rosen Method® service marks worldwide with the help of member dues and careful planning. This is one of our most important missions: to ensure that the Rosen Method® remains protected in all regions where it is practiced now and in the future. Maintaining the service marks benefits Rosen Method® professionals by:

Protecting the value and uniqueness of the practice of Rosen Method® and its rigorous training programs.

Maintaining a high quality and standard of practice around the world to ensure the method remains true to Marion Rosen's creation and vision.

It is important to follow the service mark guidelines set out by the Rosen Institute to ensure the service marks remain strong. Please view the guidelines on our website for more information about the service marks and the proper display of the Rosen Method® and Rosen Institute names.

Supporting Rosen Method®.

The Rosen Institute is committed to supporting all Rosen Method® professionals. The Board works diligently to implement practicable policies and create resources and opportunities for all Rosen Method® professionals in their work. Central to this is the role of continuing education and the RI encourages all Rosen Method® professionals to grow and share their knowledge. The Rosen Institute is focused on communication and collaboration to foster a strong network of professionals who support each other locally and globally to enrich the experience and practice of the Rosen Method.®

Membership

We are a membership-based organization and membership is open to all teachers, practitioners, Movement teachers, interns and students. Annual member dues are vital to our work to grow the Rosen Method® worldwide and increase our ability to support you, our members. We greatly appreciate the support members give and we work hard to offer you a growing list of benefits including:

Professional, ethical and practical policies and guidelines for all practicing Rosen Method® professionals

Rosen Institute website with news, community updates, event listings and information for the public on the Rosen Method®, its history and benefits in multiple languages.

Online professional directory for all Rosen Institute members and schools.

A growing library of educational resources to support the knowledge base and continued learning for Rosen Method® professionals.

A mentoring program for new practitioners, movement teachers and certified teachers.

Continuing education webinars with discounted fees for members and access to all past webinars.

Online Members Only area with additional resources and networking opportunities via video conferencing.

The organization of the Rosen Method® Global Congress every three years to bring together Rosen Method® professionals from around the world.

We encourage all those involved in Rosen Method® training and practice to become familiar with the Rosen Institute, ask us questions and make suggestions for resources that will support you. Visit our website to explore our archive of Rosen Method® knowledge and to connect with the professional community. The Rosen Institute seeks to be an inclusive and diverse organization that puts its membership first so all who live and breathe Rosen Method® may continue to take this wonderful work out into communities around the world.

Learn more and sign up www.roseninstitute.net

If you wish to contact the RI please email info@roseninstitute.net

Rosen Institute

Growing Rosen Method® Locally and Globally

